Carnival and Basketball Wrap-Ups

As we look ahead to the rest of the school year, it's nice to take a moment and look back on the fine times we've had recently at Galaxy Quest, the 2004 Carnival, and the 2003-2004 Basketball Season! For your enjoyment, we've reposted Poster Contest winners and pictures of the winning cakes from the Cake Decorating Contest. And to supplement Commissioner Rob Mead's summary of the Season, we've managed to post a few pictures we think you'll like. As always, everything's available on the PTA home page, at www.MantuaPTA.org.

Literacy Night is Coming

Literacy Night will be on Thursday, April 29. We would like to invite the parents of our Mantua students to come and visit all the classrooms so that they may see the "Experience, Exposure, and Expression" in the classrooms. Many different projects will be showcased this night. It will be an open house from 7:00 to 8:00 p.m. It is not open to the community -- only to our Mantua parents.

Pepsi and iTunes

Pepsi is having a promotion that gives away iTunes when you buy a 20 oz. bottle of Pepsi (one out of three bottles is a winner). If you have won any iTunes, but don't listen to iTunes, please send the winning bottle caps to the PTA box at school. One of our fabulous parent volunteers has seen them offered successfully on eBay and has volunteered to coordinate auctioning them off on eBay. The promotion lasts until the end of April, so drink up!

Thank Your School Public Health Clinicians During National Public Health Week

National Public Health Week is April 5-11. Although this will be Spring Break, please take time to thank your school's public health nurses and clinic room aides when you return on April 12, 2004.

Public health plays an important part in all Fairfax County Public Schools (FCPS). In fact, public health nurses and clinic room aides – employees of the Fairfax County Health Department – can be found in every school health clinic. By working closely with FCPS and families, public health nurses and clinic room aides play a vital role in ensuring that each student achieves the most from his or her education.

Public health nurses do this by identifying health conditions that may impair a student's ability to learn, and developing a plan to minimize the condition's impact on the school day. They are the central link among parents, school, and community in promoting healthy behaviors. Clinic room aides provide basic care to sick and injured students. Both the nurses and clinic room aides assist the school with vision and hearing screenings. Equally important, public health nurses and clinic room aides provide schools a seamless connection to the Health Department – the agency that monitors communicable disease trends within the schools, and assists in reducing the spread of disease.

The vision of the Fairfax County Health Department is "Healthy People in Healthy Communities." This also means healthy students in healthy schools, and cannot be accomplished without the tireless work of the school public health nurses and clinic room aides.

Education Advocacy

The Alliance for Virginia's Students has been formed to help "promote adequate public policy and funding support from the Commonwealth of Virginia ... by engaging in informational and advocacy activities with the general public and state policy makers." ## Public Meeting on State Budget

The next Fairfax County public meeting features Delegate Gary Reese (R-67th District). It will be on Wednesday, March 31, at 6:00 p.m. at the Sully Government Center, on Stonecroft Boulevard in Centreville.

Underage Drinking: Truth or Consequences

Find out the truth and consequences of underage drinking as the Woodson Community Coalition presents an evening for parents. Fairfax County Judge Gayl Carr will preside over a mock trial, similar to the one at the Fairfax Chocolate Festival, of a student charged with possession of alcohol. Following the trial, Judge Carr will have a presentation and lead a panel discussion about the realities of underage drinking. Additionally, FCPS Guidance counselor Tanga Nyika Jackson will give a presentation on drug and alcohol paraphernalia and the dangers to our children. It's all on April 20 from 7:00 - 9:00 p.m. in Woodson cafeteria B. Questions, please contact your Woodson Community Coalition Coordinators, Jennifer Cooper at jalcooper@aol.com or 703-426-2490 or Leanne Stynchula stynchula@cox.net or 703 273-5742.
